DIY Space Weather Station Kit
DS7450AC19

Monitor weather and water cycles! Build a weather station terrarium that supports plant life. Observe nature in action with greenhouse condensation, wind, temperature, and more!

- Hands-on Learning: Explore in-home weather simulation with our all-in-one terrarium! Study water cycles from evaporation to condensation, plus learn about temperature, wind, even cultivate your own plant.
- Fascinating Facts: Above the clouds. Clouds are created by the cycle of evaporation and condensation. Air contains water vapour which cannot be seen. When a kettle begins to boil water, it starts the process of evaporation. That means that water turns into steam, and is absorbed into the air. If you hold a cold plate over the steam as it leaves the kettle, the steam will condensate and turn back into water.
